MAIN IDEA

The best way to get more innovation happening within organizations is to provide a culture where risk-taking is safe and innovation is completely democratized so anyone and everyone can participate.

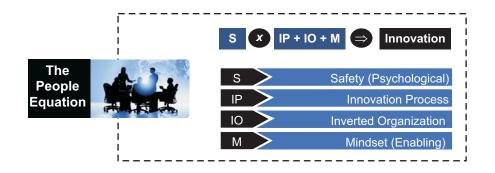

In other words, get The People Equation right first and innovation will happen. Rather than worrying about providing innovation tools or instituting innovation-generating processes, give people the go-ahead to innovate and they will.

The People Equation is that you need to have four elements which work together:

"People, not processes, create great products. We spend more time at work in our lifetimes than we do anywhere else, so when we stepped back to thoroughly and thoughtfully examine what the People Equation is, it became quite simple to us—put people first!"

Deborah Piscione and David Crawley

Nobody will innovate if they see others who make an honest effort to try something new penalized when things don't work out. You've got to make it safe for people to try new things, fail at first but learn and keep moving on. Until you create an environment where it's safe to fail, people won't be creative.

You also have to democratize innovation so that anyone can participate. You need a formalized process where everyone is trained on how to develop their ideas until they are viable. Empower everyone to push boundaries and grow the organization from the bottom up.

Inverted Organization – Empower your front-liners to do great work..... Page 4

To keep new ideas bubbling up, you have to create an organization where those who are hands-on feel like they can mobilize the full resources of the organization if their idea is good enough. That will require a nonhierarchical structure which is focused on the needs of those on the front line.

The key here is to have people who are working to make the train go faster rather than obsessing over getting into the first class cabins themselves. This kind of mindset requires five elements:

M I N D S E T	1	>	Risk taking leadership
	2	>	A corporate culture of how
	3	>	Respect for mavericks
	4	>	Cultivation of individuals
	5	>	The art of collaboration
